3. Ongoing Business

A. Council Update - (Councilman Bruce Gaynor)

Per PG&T's request for guidance re prioritizing PGT&GI Plan strategies, Gaynor advised PG&T to steer away from buying land at this time and instead focus on leveraging greenspaces already owned by City. Gaynor also updated the Commission on rumors that the Downtown Development Agency (DDA) was planning to extend Skin Alley up to City Hall, noting that actual plans are to create a pedestrian-friendly contiguous pathway from City Hall to far end of Downtown Historic Norcross. Chairperson Tixie noted this connectivity goal is part of PG&T assignment to create and endorse trails and pathways development throughout the city and suggested DDA include PG&T in ongoing connectivity development. Tixie also noted the shared concerns of PG&T and the Tree Preservation Board regarding the health of the American Elm and Gaynor emphatically assured the Commission that the Elm's expansive root system and overall health will be protected and preserved to the full ability of the city at all times.

B. Tree Preservation Board (TPB) Update (Terry Sutton and Charlie Riehm)

Charlie presented the TPB's goal of expanding the footprint of Johnson Dean Forest Preserve and to work with Christ Episcopal Church to either negotiate a legal right-of-way through church property for a trail and/or buy outright as city property. Discussion was if best to create a conservation easement or other options. Commission board discussed liability issues and land management.

TO DO: Charlie and Kassie agreed to partner and reach out to key church stakeholders to "brainstorm" opportunities. Goal is to create a "what if" scenario and present to City Manager for funding considerations.

C. Parks, Greenspaces, Trails & Green Infrastructure Master Plan Updates

Hunter Rawls shared overview of the proposed green roof kiosk in Pinnacle Park noting that Norcross Sustainability Manager Jalia Killings is spearheading that project.

Scott Leslie reported the timing is not right to pursue the Atlanta Regional Commission (ARC) "Call for Projects" and both he and Jon Davis recommended a phased concept plan be developed for the greenspaces targeted for parks development in East Norcross (per PGT&GI Plan).

TO DO: Scott and Jon agreed to present to Council at the next Planning Session a request for direction re the appropriateness of developing an RFP with Staff.

4. New Business
